Step Away from the Chocolate Bar

For those of you who can't stand the taste of vegetables (and haven't mastered the hold-your-nose-and-swallow trick), Think 5's new meal replacement bar will provide welcome relief. Think Products' latest addition fits five cups of fruit and vegetables into a compact bar that you can stuff in your purse. Snackers with a sweet tooth can choose from either red berry or chocolate covered red berry. Each bar contains servings of spinach and watercress, as well as broccoli, apples and cranberries. But don't be fooled by the unappealing list of ingredients. CEO and former model Lizanne Falsetto has made sure each bar is as delicious as it is nutritious. Pick up a few at your local supermarket for goodness on the go, or head to ThinkProducts.com for more information.

(To get your nutritional fix this Thursday night, RSVP to DCStyleMag.com's Shopping & Champagne event and be one of the first 150 people to arrive to secure a goodie bag. A Think 5 bar will be in every one!)
